and product-related areas

Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP)

Training Objective

To provide employees with the necessary knowledge to properly apply Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP) in order to prevent product contamination, protect food safety, ensure quality, and comply with the requirements of the SQF scheme and the Company's Quality Management Policy.

Duration

9 minutes

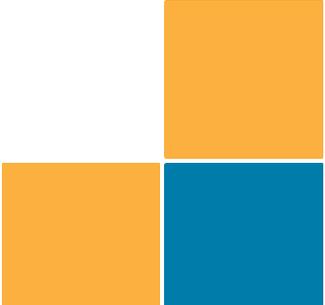

Training Method

Internal training

Induction and/or refresher

Target Audience

All personnel working in manufacturing areas, warehouses, and any area with direct or indirect impact on the product.

Training Content Description.

The company follows the SQF initiative, as many of its customers are food manufacturers who rely on the organization to maintain high standards of product quality, safety, and food safety.

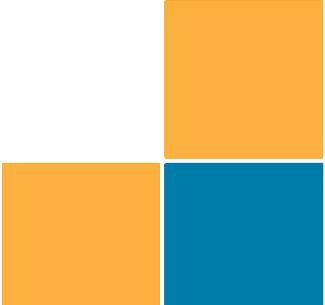

The Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP) training covers the basic rules required to maintain a clean, safe, and controlled work environment and to prevent product contamination by physical, chemical, or biological hazards.

It emphasizes that product safety and quality are the responsibility of all employees and that daily compliance with GMP is essential to protect the product, customers, and the final consumer.

Topics Covered

- Importance of GMP within the SQF system
 - Use of authorized and properly labeled containers only
 - Immediate reporting of unlabeled secondary containers
 - Restriction on bringing food, candy, and chewing gum into production areas
 - Only transparent bottles with pure water are permitted
 - Prohibition of smoking or vaping outside designated areas
 - Prohibition of cell phone use in manufacturing and warehouse areas
 - Personal hygiene requirements (nails, eyelashes, hair, and beard)
 - Restriction on jewelry due to safety and contamination risks
 - Mandatory use of clean uniforms and personal protective equipment (PPE)
 - Handwashing before entering production areas and after using restrooms or eating areas
 - Proper handling of food in the cafeteria and lockers
 - Use of green walkways to prevent accidents and product contamination
 - Proper waste and recycling disposal practices
 - Cleaning and maintenance of restrooms
 - Prohibition of possession of firearms on company premises and parking areas
 - Reference to the Employee Handbook as a supporting document
 - Control and traceability of production runs through the ERP system

Competencies Acquired

Upon completion of the training, employees are able to:

- Identify potential product contamination risks
- Properly apply Good Manufacturing Practices in their work areas
- Maintain appropriate personal hygiene practices
- Comply with SQF food safety and quality requirements
- Report nonconforming conditions or potential risks
- Act responsibly to protect the product and the end consumer

Expected Results

- Compliance with GMP requirements under the SQF scheme
- Reduced risk of product contamination
- Trained personnel aware of their responsibilities
- Documented training evidence suitable for audit purposes
